

THEY DEFY RAINES LAW!

MAGISTRATES REFUSE TO COMMIT "DRUNKS" TO SPECIAL SESSIONS.

It would be a hardship to the prisoners and would cost the city a large sum of money to commit them to the Special Sessions. The City Magistrate showed yesterday that for the present at least, they are not going to obey one section of the amended Raines law. The section ignored by them is that in which the law sets forth that all persons found intoxicated in a public place are to be committed to the Special Sessions. This, in effect, means that all persons arrested for intoxication are guilty of a misdemeanor, and as such must be held in jail by the Magistrate in the police courts for hearing in the Special Sessions.

The Magistrate in his disposal of intoxication cases have been fining prisoners from $3 to $10 under the provisions of the White law, which makes intoxication merely one phase of disorderly conduct. GIRLS FLY BEFORE FIRE.

HAD TO GET OVER AN IRON SPIKE BURSTING SOMEHOW.

Three Firemen and a Plumber Helped Them Out of the Most Awkward Fire Escape They Ever Experienced. The Girls Were Injured in an Attempt to Escape.

The explosion of a vat of some liquid in David Hale's nickel-plating shop, on the second floor of the four-story building at 103 Walker street, yesterday afternoon injured one man, set fire to the building, and caused a panic in the building and the adjoining tenements. When the vat blew up Hale, who was working at it, was burned on the face and hands. He ran out to a nearby drug store for treatment. Some of his men followed him downstairs, while others crawled through the windows to the front fire-escape balcony.

In a few seconds dense smoke rolled out of the windows of the shop and into the two upper lots of the building. They are occupied by the Hale family. The girls, who were in the building, were in the building. The girls, who were in the building, were in the building.
